

single "intrusion"-loop wired - only if door and both windows keep shut the "wired loop" with all reed-relays behave as a closed line of switches ! If only one of the devices gets opened the line becomes "disturbed" i.e. the line is truncated and open and can become detected by the software. Similar other detectors like infrared-detector or shock-detector could also be integrated into this line.