Question about internal modem

I need to know if I can hook up an internal (Apple-Cat) modem to my ///.
Can someone tell me if I can or not. Also will it fit I hear it's large.

I assume that you could hook up the internal modem if you use a slot assignable RS232 driver. Think the driver exists, although I do not know of anyone that has done this. Will check if I have the driver, think it can be used with Super Serial card, but do not know if it works with the Apple-cat. If you already own the modem card, you might try, but I would not do it if you do not already own it.
